

SAVI Neighborhood Boundary Atlas & Methodology

Community Profile Tool

March 2023

Data can be searched for 51 Evansville city neighborhoods within the SAVI Community Profile Tool. Efforts were made to verify that these boundaries are accurate and consistent with boundaries used by stakeholders, including nonprofits, neighborhood revitalization efforts, and city/county government.

The neighborhood boundaries are built from U.S. Census Block Group data using a 25% rule of thumb and visual estimation. If less than 25% of a Census tract is found in the neighborhood boundary, it is excluded from that neighborhood. Said another way, the boundaries propose only to include tracts where most of the tract, roughly 75% or more, is found within that boundary.

Using Census Block Groups provides the most accurate data for these small geographic areas; however, some data sources do not provide their data down to the block group level. Therefore, data available at the neighborhood level may be limited.

Though this methodology was deemed acceptable by a group of community stakeholders, alternatives can be explored. Building the boundaries from U.S. Census Tract data instead of Block Group data can be considered in the future if these data limitations restrict SAVI's usefulness in the region.

The following pages include visuals of the Evansville city neighborhood boundaries as assessed for inclusion in the SAVI Community Profiles Tool. Block Group numbers are identified. Those not recommended for inclusion in SAVI due to issues with the 25% rule of thumb are noted. Neighborhoods currently not included can be added as data boundaries are clarified.
